TYPE OF DATA HANDLED

Navigation Data

The IT systems and software processes required for this web site to operate acquire certain personal information during operation, the transmission of which is implicit in the use of Internet communication protocols.

This is information that has not been collected for the purpose of identifying concerned parties but which, due to the nature thereof, could allow users to be identified by means of processing and association with data stored by third parties.

This category of data includes IP addresses or domain names of computers used by users that connect to the site, URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) addresses of the resources requested, the time at which the request was made, the method used to submit the request to the server, the size of the file received as a response, the numerical code indicating the status of the response provided by the server (delivered, error, etc.) and other parameters relative to the operating system and the IT environment of the user.

These data are used only to obtain anonymous statistical information regarding the use of the site and to check the correct operation thereof, and they are deleted immediately after being processed. The data may be used to establish responsibility in the event of hypothetical IT criminal activity against the site: apart from this situation, the data on the web contacts will not be stored for longer than seven days.

Data provided voluntarily by the user

The optional, explicit and voluntary forwarding of e-mails to the addresses indicated on this site will result in the subsequent acquisition of the sender's e-mail address, which is necessary in order to respond to the request, as well as of any other personal information contained in the message.
